GLOBAL LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT EXPERIENCE

Dates: June 4 – June 29, 2012

In this intense immersion coursework and program, you'll partner with innovative student-entrepreneurs, corporate and nonprofit executives and world-class faculty while working to create innovative real-world solutions to social, economic and environmental issues in a collaborative and challenging environment.

Classroom sessions provide a lively environment to explore and approach world problems through the lens of Entrepreneurial Thought and Action™ and problem-solving strategies through real life examples from faculty and business leaders framed by the United Nations Millennium Development Goals. You'll gain an in-depth understanding of how to approach solving existing "big world problems." You will become aware of current trends in attempting to address these issues and be taught a framework on how you can develop a methodology for solving these challenges. Be inspired by innovative business leaders and real-world examples both through lectures and site visits. You will then develop specific knowledge of a few specific issues and work with a corporation, entrepreneur or nonprofit organization to help them enhance their social impact.

Weekdays consist of classroom lessons and interactive discussions with peers from around the world, company or nonprofit project time in teams and meeting with industry professionals. During the weekends, you will participate in community service projects to enhance your classroom learning experiences and explore the nation's greatest college city, Boston through a variety of local events, attractions and activities.
