

WHAT IS A MUN

A "Model United Nations" conference is an academic simulation of the United Nations and other regional and international organisations. Participants, who are mainly university students, assume the role of diplomats representing a country other than their own. The main goals of this unique process is to allow the participants to familiarize themselves with the workings of international institutions, explore solutions to key global issues and to research about another country's culture, economy and politics. Furthermore, it gives them ample opportunities to practice democratic participation, negotiation and to connect with like-minded youth from all over the world.

TESTIMONIALS

"I chose to participate in MILMUN because it seemed to be a great way to enrich my education in sphere of intercultural relations, diplomacy, and communication, but it turned out to be so much more!" (Ivana Sijan (Serbia) Security Council, Nigeria)

"Simply put, being a participant in MILMUN, provides a valuable interactive learning experience in multilateral diplomacy, effective communication and conflict resolution" (Sahra Ghannam (Marocco) Chronicle News Vanity Fair)

"MILMUN is the true definition of globalization and international collaboration and cooperation"

BACKGROUND

MILMUN was first held in 2006 and with its seventh edition scheduled in 2012, it is Italy's longest lasting and most successful annual university level simulation of international organizations. It is organized by students and young professionals with years of experience in the MUN arena. In 2009 the MILMUN was founded as a non-profit association to ensure the organization's continuity.

MISSION AND VISION

The Milan International Model United Nations Association is a non-profit organization that provides political education, intercultural networking and career guidance to the youth with a global perspective.

The Association aims to become a leading organiser of academic simulations of the United Nations and European Union as well as training courses and lectures.

KNOWLEDGE ORGANIZATION

The MILMUN association adheres to the principles of the United Nations, especially the peaceful interaction between cultures, sustainable development and the respect of human rights. Furthermore, the organization believes in teamwork, social entrepreneurship, student initiative and the expansion of each participant's social network on a global scale.

THE MILMUN CONFERENCE

The Association's main activity is a one-week and in-depth academic simulation of the United Nations, the European Union, global financial Institutions, as well as an investigative News Agency that publishes a daily conference newspaper. In order to create a simulation that is as realistic as possible, several Guest Speakers provide each committee with first-hand and topic-related information and experience to aid participants in finding the best possible solutions to the issues at hand. A Key Lecture on selected United Nations Millenium Development Goals brings together further high-level speakers to increase the academic value for participants.
